HAPPENINGS

CROP Walk scheduled

Walk to eliminate hunger in the local community and around the world on Oct. 13 by joining the 2013 CROP Walk to benefit local hunger organizations. The event begins at 2 p.m., and the walk begins at 2:30 p.m. Sponsors and walkers are needed to help the church to reach its goal of $5,000.

Archdiocese leases cemeteries to Bucks County company

The Archdiocese of Philadelphia has reached an outsourced management agreement and long-term lease with StoneMor Partners L.P., a Delaware-based company that will manage the company’s cemeteries. The five-county region has 277 cemeteries, which the company will manage through a management agreement and lease payment of $53 million to the archdiocese. Subsequent annuities will pay the hundreds of millions of dollars, sheet liabilities that measured in $39.2 million operating deficit for the Archdiocese to rebuild a firm financial position.

Church hosts CROP Walk to combat hunger

For those who describe themselves as “spiritual, yet not religious,” St. Philip’s Episcopal Church in New Hope offers “Night Prayers,” a nontraditional gathering, on Oct. 11, rain or shine, in the parking lot of the church. The Rev. Michael Ruk, who began the “Night Prayers” service in 2012, wants to help as many people as possible explore spirituality. “The purpose of the service is to reach out to the community,” Ruk said. “It’s brief, just 30 minutes, so people can come and go at their leisure. It’s open to everyone.”

New church offers nontraditional gatherings

The Rev. Michael Ruk, who began the “Night Prayers” service in 2012, wants to help as many people as possible explore spirituality. “The purpose of the service is to reach out to the community,” Ruk said. “It’s brief, just 30 minutes, so people can come and go at their leisure. It’s open to everyone.”

Happenings

Rally for public Rosary scheduled

There will be a rally in attempt to get a large crowd of people to say a Public Rosary at noon Saturday, Oct. 12, rain or shine, in front of the church of St. John the Baptist Roman Catholic Church, on Route 2, just off of Route 611, in Ottsville.

Archdiocese leases cemeteries to Bucks County company

The Archdiocese of Philadelphia has reached an outsourced management agreement and long-term lease with StoneMor Partners L.P., a Delaware-based company that will manage the company’s cemeteries. The five-county region has 277 cemeteries, which the company will manage through a management agreement and lease payment of $53 million to the archdiocese. The Archdiocese of Philadelphia will retain ownership and operate the cemeteries.

Archdiocese leases cemeteries to Bucks County company

The Archdiocese of Philadelphia has reached an outsourced management agreement and long-term lease with StoneMor Partners L.P., a Delaware-based company that will manage the company’s cemeteries. The five-county region has 277 cemeteries, which the company will manage through a management agreement and lease payment of $53 million to the archdiocese.

Church hosts CROP Walk to combat hunger

For those who describe themselves as “spiritual, yet not religious,” St. Philip’s Episcopal Church in New Hope offers “Night Prayers,” a nontraditional gathering, on Oct. 11, rain or shine, in the parking lot of the church. The Rev. Michael Ruk, who began the “Night Prayers” service in 2012, wants to help as many people as possible explore spirituality. “The purpose of the service is to reach out to the community,” Ruk said. “It’s brief, just 30 minutes, so people can come and go at their leisure. It’s open to everyone.”

New church offers nontraditional gatherings

The Rev. Michael Ruk, who began the “Night Prayers” service in 2012, wants to help as many people as possible explore spirituality. “The purpose of the service is to reach out to the community,” Ruk said. “It’s brief, just 30 minutes, so people can come and go at their leisure. It’s open to everyone.”

New church offers nontraditional gatherings

The Rev. Michael Ruk, who began the “Night Prayers” service in 2012, wants to help as many people as possible explore spirituality. “The purpose of the service is to reach out to the community,” Ruk said. “It’s brief, just 30 minutes, so people can come and go at their leisure. It’s open to everyone.”

Archdiocese leases cemeteries to Bucks County company

The Archdiocese of Philadelphia has reached an outsourced management agreement and long-term lease with StoneMor Partners L.P., a Delaware-based company that will manage the company’s cemeteries. The five-county region has 277 cemeteries, which the company will manage through a management agreement and lease payment of $53 million to the archdiocese.

Church hosts CROP Walk to combat hunger

For those who describe themselves as “spiritual, yet not religious,” St. Philip’s Episcopal Church in New Hope offers “Night Prayers,” a nontraditional gathering, on Oct. 11, rain or shine, in the parking lot of the church. The Rev. Michael Ruk, who began the “Night Prayers” service in 2012, wants to help as many people as possible explore spirituality. “The purpose of the service is to reach out to the community,” Ruk said. “It’s brief, just 30 minutes, so people can come and go at their leisure. It’s open to everyone.”

New church offers nontraditional gatherings

The Rev. Michael Ruk, who began the “Night Prayers” service in 2012, wants to help as many people as possible explore spirituality. “The purpose of the service is to reach out to the community,” Ruk said. “It’s brief, just 30 minutes, so people can come and go at their leisure. It’s open to everyone.”

New church offers nontraditional gatherings

The Rev. Michael Ruk, who began the “Night Prayers” service in 2012, wants to help as many people as possible explore spirituality. “The purpose of the service is to reach out to the community,” Ruk said. “It’s brief, just 30 minutes, so people can come and go at their leisure. It’s open to everyone.”

New church offers nontraditional gatherings

The Rev. Michael Ruk, who began the “Night Prayers” service in 2012, wants to help as many people as possible explore spirituality. “The purpose of the service is to reach out to the community,” Ruk said. “It’s brief, just 30 minutes, so people can come and go at their leisure. It’s open to everyone.”

New church offers nontraditional gatherings

The Rev. Michael Ruk, who began the “Night Prayers” service in 2012, wants to help as many people as possible explore spirituality. “The purpose of the service is to reach out to the community,” Ruk said. “It’s brief, just 30 minutes, so people can come and go at their leisure. It’s open to everyone.”

New church offers nontraditional gatherings

The Rev. Michael Ruk, who began the “Night Prayers” service in 2012, wants to help as many people as possible explore spirituality. “The purpose of the service is to reach out to the community,” Ruk said. “It’s brief, just 30 minutes, so people can come and go at their leisure. It’s open to everyone.”

New church offers nontraditional gatherings

The Rev. Michael Ruk, who began the “Night Prayers” service in 2012, wants to help as many people as possible explore spirituality. “The purpose of the service is to reach out to the community,” Ruk said. “It’s brief, just 30 minutes, so people can come and go at their leisure. It’s open to everyone.”

New church offers nontraditional gatherings

The Rev. Michael Ruk, who began the “Night Prayers” service in 2012, wants to help as many people as possible explore spirituality. “The purpose of the service is to reach out to the community,” Ruk said. “It’s brief, just 30 minutes, so people can come and go at their leisure. It’s open to everyone.”

New church offers nontraditional gatherings

The Rev. Michael Ruk, who began the “Night Prayers” service in 2012, wants to help as many people as possible explore spirituality. “The purpose of the service is to reach out to the community,” Ruk said. “It’s brief, just 30 minutes, so people can come and go at their leisure. It’s open to everyone.”

New church offers nontraditional gatherings

The Rev. Michael Ruk, who began the “Night Prayers” service in 2012, wants to help as many people as possible explore spirituality. “The purpose of the service is to reach out to the community,” Ruk said. “It’s brief, just 30 minutes, so people can come and go at their leisure. It’s open to everyone.”

New church offers nontraditional gatherings

The Rev. Michael Ruk, who began the “Night Prayers” service in 2012, wants to help as many people as possible explore spirituality. “The purpose of the service is to reach out to the community,” Ruk said. “It’s brief, just 30 minutes, so people can come and go at their leisure. It’s open to everyone.”